

Clean energy for EU islands

Editorial

Welcome to our newsletter where we have some exciting announcements to make. The EU islands secretariat has set the date for our EU island forum and has launched its video call – Views from the islands. As always you can find all relevant information below. So spread the good news: register for the forum and grab your phone to show us your clean energy initiative video! In case you want training on how to produce your video, we are there for you, see the below mentioned training session. In case you have not done so already! Please register to our new subscriber list by pressing the subscriber button below.

Call for technical

Reminder! EU islands invited to apply for our call for support series

The Clean energy for EU islands Secretariat is launching a first Call for Support this April, calling EU islands to apply for technical support for their projects. The Clean energy for EU islands secretariat continues to offer support to European islands to further advance in their clean energy transition. From formulating strategic energy transition plans to grid integration studies, regulatory analysis, or help finding financing for concrete projects: this technical support aims to bring solutions to all European islands tailored to whichever phase of the transition they are in.
